

Madona Azar, MD, is an Associate Professor of Medicine. She is a graduate of Saint-Joseph's University and completed her Internal Medicine residency at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School in New Jersey. She trained for fellowship at Penn State College of Medicine and the University of Oklahoma. She joined the Section of Endocrinology in July 2009. She currently serves as Fellowship Director and Interim Chief of Endocrinology.