Gaps:

1. Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) has implemented a new menu of criteria for Accreditation with Commendation and course directors are unaware of the changes.
2. Provide training to the Regularly Scheduled Series (RSS) course directors and course contacts in order to fully implement the processes required with the new online learning management system.
3. Course directors need a refresher on conflict of interest and the ACCME standards for commercial support.

Learning Objectives - Upon completion of this session, participants will improve their competence and performance by being able to:

1. Describe and demonstrate the shared evolution that is driving quality in post-graduate medical education and support clinicians in their quest for lifelong learning and improve care for the patients we all serve.
2. Overview of the new ACCME criteria, review conflict of interest and standards for commercial support, utilization of online learning management system, and new two year regularly scheduled series application.

Disclosure & Resolution Report

The University of Oklahoma College of Medicine and the Irwin H. Brown Office of Continuing Professional Development must ensure balance, independence, objectivity and scientific rigor in all its activities. We have implemented a process where everyone who is in a position to control the content of an educational activity has disclosed to us all relevant financial relationships with any commercial interest. In addition, should it be determined that a conflict of interest exists as a result of a financial relationship one may have, this will be resolved prior to the activity. This policy is designed to provide the target audience with an opportunity to review any affiliations between the CME organizers and presenters and supporting organizations for the purpose of determining the potential presence of bias or influence over educational content. The following is a summary of this activities disclosure information.
