

Sheena John, MD

Sheena John is a current Chief Resident of The University of Oklahoma Pediatric Residency Program. She is from Carrollton, Texas, and completed her undergraduate education at the University of Texas at Dallas with a Bachelor of Science degree in Biochemistry with a minor in Dance. She continued her education at McGovern Medical School at the University of Texas Health Sciences Center in Houston, Texas. She has helped create multiple program changes and sustainable practices within the Pediatric Residency program to advocate for resident wellness, diversity and inclusion, and medical education in her role as a chief resident. Dr. John aspires to become an advocate for her patients, continue in medical education, and pursue a career in Neonatology. Her hobbies include spending time with friends and family, reading, and traveling.