

Katie Smith is a graduate of the University of Oklahoma College of Medicine and has been on faculty with the department of OBGYN since she graduated residency. She completed a Master's degree in clinical and translational research here at the Health Sciences Center. Dr. Smith has roles as clerkship director and associate section chief for the academic generalists in OBGYN. Her research interests include lower genital tract dysplasia as well as medical education. When she is not involved in clinical, research or educational activities she spends her time with her wonderful husband and two lovely daughters.