

Latisha Heinlen, M.D. is a fellowship-trained physician dedicated to the diagnosis and treatment of a multitude of rheumatic and systemic autoimmune diseases. Dr. Heinlen works directly with her patients to create a better quality of life through the management of rheumatoid arthritis, gout, ankylosing spondylitis and lupus among other diseases.