

Dr. Monica Henning attended the University of Oklahoma School of Community Medicine for medical school. She completed her OB/GYN residency at OUSCM, where she received the Crimson Apple Teaching Award in her last year. Following a few years in private practice in Portland, Dr. Henning returned to Tulsa in 2013 to join the OB/GYN faculty. She is excited to back home and teaching at OU. Her areas of interest include general obstetrics and gynecology as well as human papillomavirus (HPV) and colposcopy.
