

Talal Zahoor, M.D. was born and raised in the United Arab Emirates, but ethnically Pakistani. He spent the latter half of his adolescent years in Eastern North Carolina where he earned his B.Sc. in Health Services Management. Thereafter, he traveled internationally having completed his medical training in Australia followed by Internal Medicine training in Texas. In the pursuit of his educational endeavors, he has partaken in a multitude of research which have come to fruition having presented his works at National and Regional conferences. He is currently furthering his academic pursuits in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.