

Pamela S. Allen, M.D.

Biosketch

Updated 7.13.2022

Dr. Pamela Allen is an associate professor and Chair at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center Department of Dermatology. She serves as the director of the residency program and cosmetics. Dr. Allen is the founder and director of the Mark Allen Everett, MD, Skin of Color Symposium of the OU Department of Dermatology.

Dr. Allen received her medical degree from Loma Linda University School of Medicine in Southern California. She completed an internal medicine residency at the Martin Luther King/Charles R. Drew Medical Center in Los Angeles. After which, she completed her dermatology residency training at OU. She has been an OU dermatology faculty member for the past 20 years.

Dr. Allen is a fellow of the American Academy of Dermatology, chair of the OU College of Medicine Diversity Alliance Task Force, member of the Skin of Color Society and the AAD Skin of Color Curriculum Workgroup. She serves on administrative boards for OU Health and OU College of Medicine.

Dr. Allen has published many dermatologic articles and has served as principal investigator on multiple clinical studies. She has been interviewed by T.V. and radio stations as well as newspapers giving expert skin advice. She enjoys giving presentations to church, school, community and medical organizations on local and national levels.

Outside of medicine, Dr. Allen practices healthy living. She is the health ministry director of her church (Voice of Hope Seventh Adventist Church). She enjoys music of many genres. She is an seasoned pianist.