Course # 21D04

“Overstabilization: Signs and Symptoms of Mood Stabilizer Toxicity”

Thursday, August 6, 2020

Noon – 1:00 p.m.

Zoom Video Conference

Presented By:

Elizabeth L. Chen, D.O.

Resident Physician, PGY-II

University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center

Moderator:

Christopher Czapl, MD

Assistant Professor

Department of Psychiatry and Behavioral Sciences

Professional Practice Gaps: Unexpected morbidity or mortality cases occur in the hospitals annually. These cases often occur due to errors which must be identified, trends explored and interventions for prevention of future errors developed.

Learning Objectives: Upon completion of this session, participants will improve their competence and performance by being able to:

1. Illustrate their ability to recognize and correct biological psychiatric treatments, especially medications that have potentially serious side effects and drug interactions.
2. Apply their diagnostic skills and better recognize psychiatric symptoms that are due to medical conditions, medications and drugs of abuse that adversely affect patients' mental status exam and cognition.
3. Integrate mental health law and policy in assessing and managing patients with serious psychiatric and/or mental conditions.

Disclosure and Resolution Report 2020-2021

The University of Oklahoma College of Medicine and the Irwin H. Brown Office of Continuing Professional Development must ensure balance, independence, objectivity and scientific rigor in all its activities. We have implemented a process where everyone who is in a position to control the content of an educational activity has disclosed to us all relevant financial relationships with any commercial interest. In addition, should it be determined that a conflict of interest exists as a result of a financial relationship one may have, this will be resolved prior to the activity. This policy is designed to provide the target audience with an opportunity to review any affiliations between the CME organizers/presenters and supporting organizations for the purpose of determining the potential presence of bias or influence over educational content. The following is a summary of this activities disclosure information.
