Mary Isaacson, EdD, OTR/L, FAOTA, ATP
Associate Professor, Department of Rehabilitation Sciences
Interim Occupational Therapy Program Director

The Professor Paws Project: Educating minds today, Empowering lives tomorrow

Professional Practice Gaps:

Many members of our department do not know about the Professor Paws Project and what benefits dogs have in the health and well-being of patients.

Learning Objectives - Upon completion of this session, participants will improve their competence and performance by being able to:

Compare and contrast the differences between a service dog, therapy dog, and emotional support dog.

Summarize the various benefits and rolls of dogs in the health and well-being of patients.

Explain the laws related to service dogs and public access.

Disclosure & Resolution Report

The University of Oklahoma College of Medicine and the Irwin H. Brown Office of Continuing Professional Development must ensure balance, independence, objectivity and scientific rigor in all its activities. We have implemented a process where everyone who is in a position to control the content of an educational activity has disclosed to us all relevant financial relationships with any commercial interest. In addition, should it be determined that a conflict of interest exists as a result of a financial relationship one may have, this will be resolved prior to the activity. This policy is designed to provide the target audience with an opportunity to review any affiliations between the CME organizers and presenters and supporting organizations for the purpose of determining the potential presence of bias or influence over educational content. The following is a summary of this activities disclosure information.
