Activity Description:

Innovations in Aging Day is a half day symposium where OUHSC and other regional faculty and students have an opportunity to present innovative research on aging. For Innovations in Aging Day 2022, a panel presentation will focus on interprofessional careers in aging to coincide with National Careers in Aging Week. Presenters for this panel come from four professional backgrounds: a clinician, a researcher, a community worker/liaison, and an educator. Abstracts that will be presented for Innovations in Aging Day 2022 will comprise three categories: Clinical Care or Research, Health Professions Education, and Community-Based Interventions. Innovations in Aging

Day is provided with no registration cost to participants and seeks to grow interest in aging research on the OUHSC campus as well as other regional campuses.

Intended/Target Audience:

Physician, Family Medicine, General Medicine, Geriatric Medicine, Internal Medicine, Medical Student, Nurse, Pharmacist, Pharmacy, Physician Assistant, Public Health, Resident, Research, and Social Worker.

Professional Practice Gap(s):

There is a large gap between the population of older adults in the United States and the size of the workforce that is needed to provide services to this rapidly growing population. Professions that deal with older adults are in dire need of people to work these professions and helping grow interest in fields that deal with aging older adults among students is crucial. Showcasing the work of existing professionals in aging along with giving students and faculty an OUHSC option to present their work is also crucial in helping to grow the workforce that is needed to provide services to the aging older adult population in the U.S.

Learning Objectives:

Upon completion of this activity, participants will improve their competence and performance by being able to:

1. Distinguish the different professions and how they provide services to older adults.
2. Recognize the need for more professionals to provide services to older adults.

Accreditation Council for Graduate Medical Education (ACGME) American Board of Medical Specialties (ABMS)

Competencies:

- Work in interdisciplinary teams
- Patient Care
