“Epilepsy: It’s not Just Seizures”

Presented by:

Anne T. Berg, PhD
Research Professor
Ann & Robert H. Lurie Children’s Hospital of Chicago
Northwestern University Feinberg School of Medicine

CHF Isaiah Stone Pediatric Epilepsy Lecture Series

Invited by: General/Community Pediatrics/Neurology
OUHSC Department of Pediatrics

Learning Objectives - Upon completion of this session, participants will improve their competence and performance by being able to:

1. Describe the frequency of epilepsies in childhood and the most common types and causes, including their genetic bases and associated companion disorders and consequences.
2. Explain the primary behavioral and cognitive concerns in pediatric patients with different types of epilepsy and the long-term implications.
3. Explain the risks of mortality associated with different types of pediatric epilepsy and identify information resources for parents and physicians.
4. Identify which pediatric patients with epilepsy will need to transition their epilepsy care to adult providers and the national guidelines and organizations that support that process.

Disclosure & Resolution Report

The University of Oklahoma College of Medicine and the Irwin H. Brown Office of Continuing Professional Development must ensure balance, independence, objectivity and scientific rigor in all its activities. We have implemented a process where everyone who is in a position to control the content of an educational activity has disclosed to us all relevant financial relationships with any commercial interest. In addition, should it be determined that a conflict of interest exists as a result of a financial relationship one may have, this will be resolved prior to the activity. This policy is designed to provide the target audience with an opportunity to review any affiliations between the CME organizers/presenters and supporting organizations for the purpose of determining the potential presence of bias or influence over educational content. The following is a summary of this activities disclosure information.
